Executive Summary

Task analyses were conducted for the Meijer.com website. For these analyses, various transactional processes on the website were deconstructed to identify areas where streamlining and optimization could occur. Storyboards were also created to accompany the reconstructed processes, showing the various steps that have been modified as users move through the redesigned tasks.

The improvements in the transactional tasks included:

- Reducing the steps involved in creating an account. The number of steps required was reduced and the entire process is now contained on a single page.
- Streamlining the checkout process. A redundant page showing the products in the cart is removed and a “sliding door” approach is used to load each step rather than a loading graphic.
- Making the “Contact Us” form more user-friendly. This was accomplished by redesigning the user interface of the form and by having the site auto-populate fields based on data entered earlier in the process.
- Reducing the size and repetitiveness of the product review form. Multiple field redundancies were eliminated making a more streamlined form that is short and to the point. The new form focuses more on the actual review written by the user rather than suggested tags for pros and cons.
- Rearranging the contents of the alerts sign up page. The previous form contained most of the page content in an awkward two-by-two grid. The redesigned form presents the various alerts in a linear fashion while maintaining the brevity of the page.
- Making the Vitamin Finder form consistent with the surrounding site’s style. The Vitamin Finder is now displayed within the established content area of the page rather than in a pop-up box.

Outside of the processes themselves, additional modifications to the site which are designed to support the processes are also presented in their respective sections.

Create an Account: Interface Changes

- Enlarged “Welcome! Sign in or create an account for exclusive savings.” at the top of all pages to make them stand out amongst the surrounding navigation.
- Made the “Create an Account” header bigger and bolder.
- Eliminated the first page in the “Create an Account” process by including the Meijer 1 Card question at the beginning of the form.
- Changed the Meijer 1 Card-related options to be “I Don’t Have a Meijer 1 Card.” and “I Have a Meijer 1 Card. Load my stored information into the form.” The latter option includes the current fields to enter the Meijer 1 Card number and card carrier’s birthday as well as a “Continue” button which will access the user’s information tied to the Meijer 1 Card and populate appropriate fields on the “Create an Account” form.
- Modified the form from a one-column to a two-column format to shorten the length of the page.
- Grouped the fields titled “Salutation” through “Zip Code” into a group labeled “Contact Information”.
- Relabeled the name and address form fields for greater consistency, both within the form and across the site.
- Added “Meijer.com” as a pre-populated option in the “Store” dropdown menu.
- Removed the “Find Nearby Stores” button. The “My Meijer Store” dropdown menu will now auto-populate when selected if a zip code has been provided.
- Moved the “My Meijer Store” dropdown to the “Meijer Communications” section as this is a more logical grouping of items.

Purchase Process: Interface Changes

- Reduced whitespace between header and content areas on the Shopping Cart page.
- Relocated the box where users can enter their zip code to estimate shipping and taxes on the shopping cart page so that it is not located after the total price.
- Redesigned the checkout process for logged in users to be identical to that of the Express Checkout process, with the added benefit of data fields being pre-populated with the user's information.
- Relabeled the address form fields for greater consistency, both within the form and across the site.
- Relocated the links at the top of the Express Checkout page to the right-hand column to preserve header consistency across the site.
- Numbered the main checkout steps to provide the user with an indication of where they are in the checkout process.
- Eliminated the "Items & Delivery" step of the checkout process as it is redundant at that point in the process.
- Changed the "Save & Continue" buttons to a white text/blue background style for greater consistency across the site.

Contact Us: Interface Changes

- Removed the customer care box located on the left-hand side of the page as it only contained a link to the “Contact Us” form.
- Moved additional contact information to a more visible location, on the right-hand side above the fold.
- Removed the “This is regarding” fragment prior to the form.
- Reordered form fields, grouping user information together followed by information related to the reason for contacting.
- Relabeled the address form fields for greater consistency, both within the form and across the site.
- Removed the phone number field as no indication is given that return contact would be made via phone nor is permission asked granting this.
- Removed the “Find Nearby Stores” button – the “Store” dropdown menu will now auto-populate when selected if a zip code has been provided.
- Added “Meijer.com” as a pre-populated option in the “Store” dropdown menu.
- Reordered the items in the “Type of Comment” dropdown menu.

Write A Review: Interface Changes

- Removed product description from product summary box.
- Reduced width of product summary box to reduce overall page height.
- Removed “Pros”, “Cons”, “Best Uses”, “Describe Yourself”, and “Was this a gift?” sections to reduce overall page height. These areas can all be covered in general in the “Comments” section and will reduce the number of users who exit the page before the task is completed due to fatigue.
- Removed the “Bottom Line” section as it is redundant to the “Overall Rating” section.

“Your Vitamin Finder”: Interface Changes

- Added a link to the Vitamin Finder in the left-hand navigation of the “Vitamins & Nutrition” category pages.
- Added a prominent marketing graphic to the “Vitamins & Nutrition” category page.
- Redesigned the Vitamin Finder into a multi-page process rather than the current multi-popup box process for greater consistency across the site. Also changed the overall design (colors, headings, button design) to reflect that of the rest of the website.
- Added “Step # of 2” at the top of each page to keep the user informed of what stage of the process they are on.
- Shortened the final submit button's text from “Get Your Personalized Vitamin Recommendations” to “Get Recommendations”.
